FROM THE DESK OF RABBI RIGLER

Summer time and the living is easy....

Barbeques are lit, we feel the heat of the sun, pools are finally open, the school year is nearing completion, many businesses switch to shorter summer hours, and lawn chairs come out. Ok the pews will have a few less people, but Religious school is out, committee meetings have almost come to an end, and, although we have activities and events all summer, the hectic pace won't pick up until the approach of fall. Even with all the possibilities on the horizon, I am sure that come September just like I do each year, I will hear "Wow, the summer sure went fast."

So, what will we do with our time?

For me, there is no issue quite as profound, mysterious and unsettling as how we deal with the passing of time in our lives. Moments from years ago live vividly in my memory and make up who I am today. I spend months looking forward to something; it's here and then it's gone. Now watching as a parent, time seems to move even quicker than I ever imagined. The people I am closest to hold different memories of times we lived through together: is there any objective truth about time once it has passed? I'm increasingly aware that time is precious and limited but the platitudes, "Carpe diem" or "Live every moment to the fullest" don't really provide wisdom deep enough to deal with these issues.

How does the Jewish tradition deal with time? Probably the most significant way is by marking some days of the year as different from other days. In essence, the whole concept of "holidays" is about dealing with time. But in our American culture, a holiday is a day you don't work- not necessarily a way to deal with the metaphysical issues in life. So too, while Jewish holidays are often important times to be with family and friends, to enjoy traditional food, to come together with community, I don't think we experience the holidays enough as a time to think deeply about meaning in our lives as we barrel through time.

Rabbi Abraham Joshua Heschel distilled Jewish tradition when he wrote: "Judaism is a religion of time aiming at the sanctification of time." Human beings live in both time and space. We modern Americans are great masters of space, transforming the space around us constantly. We understand how to structure space to give meaning to our lives, but we have lost our understanding of how to structure time. When we give our time structure and order we elevate it and make it meaningful. Our task is to exist in time, not merely pass through it on the way to the next appointment.

So how can we make the days of the summer count?

I love the words of Ralph Waldo Emerson who wrote about how to make time most meaningful and to live, "with nature, in the present, above time."

Summer encourages us to slow down, let go of agendas, and enter into a deep awareness of the present. It is difficult for us to experience these moments. Our Jewish calendar provides us with a wonderful resource.

Starting August 12th we enter the Hebrew month of Elul leading right up to the High Holy Days. While we enjoy the last of summer days, we also take time to prepare ourselves for the holidays and the year to come.

There are two possible origins of the word "Elul." It may come from the root of the verb "search" in Aramaic, the vernacular language of Semitic tribes. The Hebrew word "Elul" might be an acronym for "Ani l'dodi V'dodi li" – "I am my beloved's and my beloved is mine" (Song of Solomon 6:3). Thus, it can be viewed as a time to search one's heart and draw close to God in preparation for, Rosh Hashanah, and Day of Atonement, Yom Kippur. It is a time to repent and forgive, building up to a crescendo on S'lichot and then the High Holy Days.

Elul is a great time to go on a journey of Jewish self-discovery and explore the rich tapestry of Jewish life here at Temple Sholom and across the spectrum of Jewish life. It can help us slow down by appreciating each moment.

May summer and the month of Elul offer you at least some of these spiritual gifts, and May you find yourselves "living with nature, and above time." Shalom,

~ Rabbi Peter Rigler

NOTES FROM CANTOR JAMIE MARX

Restless Heart

I was wearing my Guns n' Roses t-shirt at the birthday party for a friend of my son. One of the other parents asked if I was wearing it ironically and I replied politely that, no, I'd been a fan of GnR since my childhood and that I bought the shirt at their Philly concert two years ago. I know almost all of their songs by heart, but the one song that stood out from that concert was "You Could Be Mine."

"You Could Be Mine" was released on the Terminator 2 soundtrack when I was 10 years old, and I still remember seeing that movie with my best friend and his dad. When GnR started the song at the Philly show, I was transported back to my childhood and was filled with the same electricity that I felt listening to the song back then. It was an immediate, transformative, and powerful sensation. I felt like I was buzzing.

That feeling that comes from much loved, high energy rock music, is what I'm trying to accomplish with my second album of Jewish hard rock, Restless Heart. It's a combination of the transcendent experience of worship music with the energy and power of rock music. I want to open another doorway into Jewish music, to offer a hand to the kind of kid I was — ambivalent about Judaism, deeply inspired by rock music — and say, there's a way to blend both. To learn more about Restless Heart and to support the album, visit www.jamiemarxmusic.com.

DIRECTOR'S CORNER

Friends,

Your membership commitment makes a big difference to our Temple community.

Your participation, volunteer energy and financial donations are very important to our existence and continuity.

Membership renewal forms will soon be sent to you. Please know we value your continued support and look forward to answering any questions you may have, and to receiving your membership commitment for the coming year.

As we strive to be environmentally friendly, this year we will send the complete Welcome Back Pack electronically. We will send a modified packet in the mail. If you would like to receive your packet completely in the hard copy version, just let me know, and we will be happy to mail one out to you. Once you receive your modified packet, and view the complete packet on-line, please give me your feedback, so that we may continue to improve for the future.

Here you will see our budget graphs. These graphs provide you with a snapshot of our overall Temple Sholom budget.

If you have financial challenges, please let me know. We have financial scholarships available, and will work together with you to make your membership commitment one that is feasible. All financial considerations are held in confidence.

If you have prospective members, please let me know and I will be certain to reach out to them. Let's get the word out about Temple Sholom.

I look forward to seeing you and hearing from you throughout the summer months.

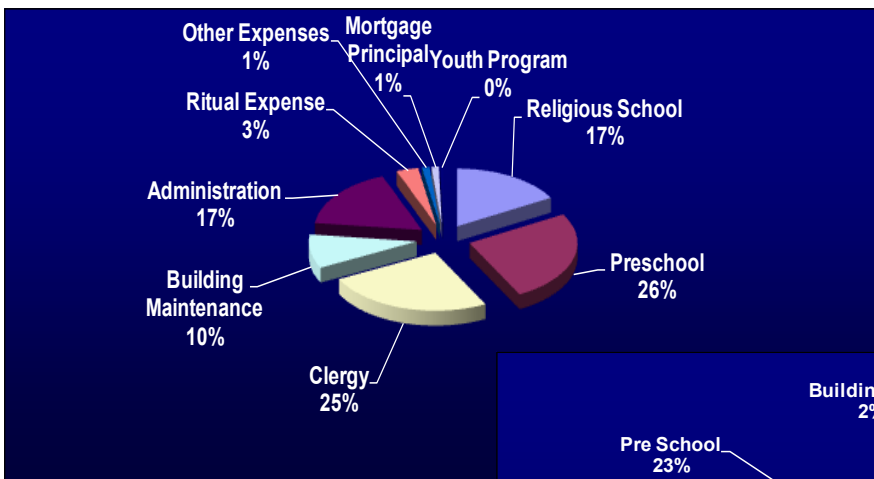

~ Warmly, Abbey Krain

YOUR MEMBERSHIP CONTRIBUTIONS MAKE A DIFFERENCE

We appreciate your membership and want you to know that Temple Sholom counts on your generosity and participation to keep our synagogue strong. Temple Sholom spends $3,365.22 annually per household including $867.00 per child for religious school.

2018-19 Expenses—$1,354,143

2018-19 Income—$1,414,796

FROM THE TEMPLE PRESIDENT

Summer is here now, but we are eagerly looking forward to the New Year at Temple Sholom. During our Congregational Meeting in June, we voted on our new Board of Trustees - take a look at our Board listed on the front page of The Temple Tidings. This vital group is dedicated to Temple Sholom and ensuring our future. Listed on page 9 are many of our lay leaders. This amazing group is essential to facilitating our structure and growth. If you would like to participate in a committee or volunteer in any way, please contact me or any of our lay leaders. Our Board, lay leadership, and volunteers are a spectacular group of committed individuals helping Temple Sholom fulfill its mission and purpose.

This year we get ready to celebrate Rabbi Peter Rigler's tenth year at Temple Sholom. Rabbi Rigler has given us the gift of spiritual leadership along with his knowledge and humor. Cantor Jamie Marx continues to bring us beautiful music as well as an increased understanding of liturgy and song. We appreciate the talents and skills of our clergy who work hard to make Temple Sholom a wonderful place to worship and learn.

Temple Sholom is dedicated to providing a warm and supportive environment for our community. We are committed to helping each individual learn about Judaism and practice the Jewish principals of love and caring for the world around us. We want each congregant to become the best person they can be. Every one of us has our own unique Jewish journey and Temple Sholom cherishes each and every one of you.

In supporting Temple Sholom, we support the entire Jewish community. Our congregation is one small part of the larger fabric of the Jewish community in our country and in the world. Every time you come to services or join an educational or social event, you are a part of ensuring the continuity of the Jewish people.

It is an honor for me to serve as President these next two years. Please feel free to reach out to me at president@temple-sholom.org to share thoughts, ask questions, or bring up concerns. Let us do all we can so that Temple Sholom continues to thrive as a welcoming and inclusive synagogue full of blessings and light.

TEMPLE SHOLOM JOINS THE URJ BRIT OLAM CONGREGATIONAL NETWORK!

In April your Board of Trustees voted unanimously to publically affirm our long-standing commitment to meaningful social justice work by signing the URJ Brit Olam Covenant launched last year by the Religious Action Center (RAC) of Reform Judaism. "Brit Olam" translates to "covenant with our world" and articulates a vision of a strong, networked Reform Movement acting together to bring about a world filled with justice, compassion and wholeness.

In signing the Brit, Temple Sholom joins 180 congregations in the Brit Olam Congregational Network that serves as a guidepost and a framework to help our congregation move our social justice activities closer to our community.

Brit Olam Congregational leaders are provided training and resources to strengthen our congregational social justice endeavors. As members of the Brit Olam Congregational Network, we have access to network leaders to discuss and develop strategies for successful social justice initiatives. In addition, we have access to the Religious Action Center (RAC) of Reform Judaism staff to support our social justice work.

Temple Sholom offers Todah Rabah to Rachel Ebby-Rosin, Terri Watson and Robin Bender Stevens for their work to bring this social justice resource to Temple Sholom. Over the coming months the Social Action Committee will be taking shape and working the RAC to bring the Brit to life for our Temple Sholom community.

B'Shalom, ~ Mary Ann Gould, Immediate Past President

2018 PRESIDENT'S ANNUAL CONGREGATIONAL REPORT

Presented at the June 20th Annual Meeting by outgoing President, Mary Ann Gould

Good evening and welcome to Temple Sholom's Annual Congregational Meeting. Thank you for joining us tonight.

It is an honor to serve as your president. I am filled with endless gratitude to work with so many passionate, skilled and generous individuals. It has been an overwhelmingly positive and uplifting experience. The bottom line is our bills are paid, our professional staff are experts in their roles, and we have reached calm waters that allow us to think strategically to envision and secure our future. We presently number 435 family units. Our membership numbers remain flat. This is our challenge, as the cost of everything increases. Our dues provide 46% of our income.

Or L'Atid, our annual appeal, achieved surpassed our goal. We thank YOU, our generous members, Immediate Past President, Emily Mendell, our Past Presidents and our Executive Director, Abbey Krain for our success. It is NEVER too late to donate.

Our Legacy or L'Dor V'Dor Campaign led by Art Zabell has achieved our goal for 2017-2018. Since the Campaign started in 2016 we have received 45 signed letters of Intent. By joining our L'Dor V'Dor Program, you are ensuring both your own legacy – and that of Temple Sholom -- for future generations of families. Legacy Letters of Intent are on the table in the lobby. Please take one. Join our Legacy Program by calling a board member or office staff member to begin considering Temple Sholom in your Estate Planning.

Our Religious School student enrollment is holding steady. The B'Yachad Program completed the first year of a fully-funded, two year program designed to encourage relevant and meaningful interaction between teens and senior citizens. On line registration was initiated. More families registered now than in 2017.

We started 2018 with our new Early Childhood Education Director [Lori-An Penschansky]. We presently have twice the number of campers registered for camp over last year. We have 36 students already registered for September 2018. This reflects an increase in the number of students registered same time last year.

It was our Biennial delegation's honor to accept recognition at the URJ Biennial on behalf of Temple Sholom. Temple Sholom is recognized as a URJ Disabilities Inclusion Exemplar Congregation! Mazel Tov and Yasher Koach on the great work our congregation does in the ongoing pursuit of inclusion of all people in congregational life. While there is always more to be done, our congregation is exemplary in multiple aspects of congregational life.

In April your Board of Trustees voted unanimously to publically affirm our long-standing commitment to meaningful social justice work by signing the URJ Brit Olam Covenant launched last year by the Religious Action Center (RAC) of Reform Judaism. "Brit Olam" translates to "covenant with our world" and articulates a vision of a strong, networked Reform Movement acting together to bring about a world filled with justice, compassion and wholeness.

In signing the Brit, Temple Sholom joins 180 congregations in the Brit Olam Congregational Network that serves as a guidepost and a framework to help our congregation move our social justice activities closer to our community.

Last Fall of 2017 your Board of Trustees began work on a new Strategic Plan to guide Temple Sholom into the future. At the same time, we applied and were accepted to participate in the URJ Congregational Benchmarking and Assessment Project. During the winter, the Board engaged in a Board Self- Assessment. 62% of our households responded to the Congregant Survey and we completed the Financial and Operational Benchmarking Assessment. You will hear more about the results tonight and over the coming year.

To quote Michael Bloomberg, "In God we trust, everyone else bring data." We are now data rich. Over the next months we will carefully mine both the subjective and objective data that we received. Analysis of the data and will guide us in developing Temple Sholom's Strategic Plan to propel our congregation into the 2020's.

The strength of our congregation is nested in our expert, experienced and compassionate lay leadership, clergy, professional staff, support staff and teachers. Todah Rabah for your commitment to make Temple Sholom warm, welcoming and inclusive.

I want to thank my volunteer-tolerant husband Scott for his patience. To my son Samuel, a true mench, thank you for literally doing the heavy lifting and to my daughter Joanna who flew to Florida on Sunday in my place, I am overwhelmed by your caring.

Tonight I end my leg of the journey and I hand the baton to Laurie Brown goehl who is the soul of Audacious Hospitality. For all these blessings, I thank God.

TREASURER'S ANNUAL REPORT

Last year I spoke about the challenges facing the Temple and trying to present and maintain a balanced budget in an atmosphere of ever-increasing costs and static membership numbers. Actually, our Temple community is an anomaly in comparison to other organizations in the surrounding area in that we maintain or even show a slight increase in membership while others are reporting declining numbers. This is a testimonial to the outstanding leadership and inspiration provided by our clergy and staff and something that we should all be proud of.

The challenges we faced in this year's budget preparation were based, not only on rising costs of everyday operations, but also in the recognition that in order to maintain our high standards, the Board had approved a long-term contract for Cantor Marx. This, coupled with a similar contract approved last year for Rabbi Rigler, challenged the Finance committee to try to develop means other than just dues in which to fund these costs. To a large extent, this budget provides a start to this process.

At this point, I want to recognize the folks who have worked so hard and tirelessly in the preparation of this budget that we are presenting. They are: Marc Albero, Rachel Amdur, Nancy Bloomfield, Laurie Browngohl, Robin Gall, Evan Gold, Mary Ann Gould, Steve Hendel, Margaret Husick, Jim Meyer, Art Zabell and Abbey Krain. Thanks also to Betsy Blackburn-Goslin [Temple Sholom's bookkeeper] for all of your assistance.

These were the major drivers in this year's budget:

Revenue:

- 1) Dues have been increased by 3% in all major categories of membership. In recognition of the impact that this increase may have upon some members of our community, we have also increased the allowance for financial review.
- 2) Bar and Bat Mitzvah fees, which have remained the same for the past number of years, have been increased to $1,800 payable over three years.
- 3) The Preschool has a new director and a new marketing plan which may provide an increased enrollment. Fees have been raised and Lori-An has developed a cost awareness scheme that may result in a more efficient and profitable program.
- 4) Oneg Shabbat sponsorship fees, which also had not been raised in several years, have been increased to $300

- 5) We thank our Auxiliaries for their generous donations to Operations and the functionality of the various programs in and out of our Temple and expect this to continue in this budget year.

Expenses:

- 1) A 2% COLA increase has been approved for all noncontract employees except in the Religious School. In that area, certain teachers have gotten increases designed to bring them in line with newer hires.
- 2) House & grounds expenses have been modified to reflect anticipated repairs to systems except for the HVAC where anticipated costs were covered by the recent Gala which netted over $80,000. The remaining allocations are based on the aging process of our other systems and the increased potential for continuing repairs.
- 3) A new austerity program has been suggested to be implemented by the administration and the Executive Director. We will be closely monitoring costs such as copying, utilities and insurance so that we can determine what and which costs can be adjusted in order to decrease our negative cash flows in those areas

Speaking of negative cash flows, our principal mortgage with Bryn Mawr Trust continues to generate $45,000 per year in principal and interest payments and will continue to do so for the next 7 years.

The year 2019 marks a milestone for this congregation. Rabbi Rigler will be celebrating his 10th anniversary as our spiritual leader and we will be planning a weekend celebration which will include our 3rd Gala featuring a return performance by the Capitol Steps. Watch for the details in the near future. It is our hope and desire to raise enough funds from this weekend to retire the mortgage.

Finally, we face many challenges this year due in part to the changes caused by new tax legislation. It is most important that we continue to grow in population as a community. We need to continue to talk about our community and invite in potential members so that we can keep growing our Temple family. To paraphrase, If you see someone, say something. The Temple you grow may be our own.

Respectfully submitted,

Steven L. Granoff, CPA, Treasurer
For the Finance Committee of Temple Sholom

RECORDING SECRETARY'S ANNUAL REPORT

Once a year, our Constitution requires us to meet to review the year just past, and look ahead to the year to come. On June 20th, 33 congregants met to fulfill that duty. Outgoing President Mary Ann Gould gave opening remarks, reviewed the state of our congregation, and reviewed our last fiscal year.

The first order of business was to approve the minutes of our 2017 meeting. They were approved unanimously. Next, Rabbi Peter Rigler gave a D'var Torah. He told the gathering that the lesson for the year is to "think of the number of lives you touch with your services." We all make a difference volunteering for Temple Sholom. He presented Mary Ann with a piece of artwork honoring her for her countless hours she put in during her presidency. Fittingly, it is called "L'dor V'dor" (From Generation To Generation.)

Recording Secretary Jim Meyer presented the slate of candidates for officers and Trustees. Eric Lieberman has resigned his position as Vice President-at-Large that still has a year left on his term. A replacement will be elected to complete his term that runs through 2019. Attendees then voted.

In Robin Bender Stevens absence, Laurie Browngoehl reviewed Highlights of the URJ Benchmarking and Assessment of Survey Results.

1. We are part of a cohort of congregations participating in similar endeavors. 62% of our members took the survey online. Such a high percentage of participation is rare.
2. 66% of our congregants volunteer in some way.
3. Our Vision, Mission, and Values are real and relevant, and well understood.
4. 96% of the respondents said the Staff make them feel comfortable.
5. $\frac{2}{3}$ of the respondents said that we manage our budget well.
6. We want to work to retain the segment of our congregation who leave after their children complete religious school.
7. Our next steps: to identify issues and to frame areas of focus.

Like other years, we took time to review pictures of the many activities of the past year.

Next, Mary Ann recognized two outgoing members of our Board. Emily Mendell was recognized as a "Lamplighter" for her years on the Board, as President, Immediate Past President, and in her vision and actions benefiting the Temple. Michael Richardson was given a thank you award for his service.

The Auxiliaries took their turns making presentations. Steve Hendel presented a $1000 check from the Brotherhood to the Temple General Fund. Dave Mendell was introduced as the new Brotherhood President. He vowed to revitalize the Brotherhood. Donna Hendel and Fran Epstein represented the Sisterhood, but emphasized that they were not the president or co-presidents. They listed all the activities of the Sisterhood and all the programs that they had donated money to. Sisterhood also gave $2000 to the General Fund. Hilltopper President Cindy Meyer reviewed her organization's activities for the last year and presented $500 to the General Fund.

Steve Granoff gave his Treasurer's report. He noted that our membership has remained steady but our costs keep rising. He thanked the Budget Committee and our bookkeeper Betsy Blackburn-Goslin for their assistance in putting together the proposed Budget. This budget includes the 3% dues increase but it also increases the amount of money available for Financial Review. Some fees were also raised. The Gala last November raised $80,000 for capital improvements including our HVAC system. There will be another Gala in 2019 to celebrate Rabbi's 10 years with us, with the objective of raising approximately $250,000 to retire our mortgage. The vote to approve the budget was unanimous.

Mary Ann presented two volunteer appreciation awards:

- Mike Danowitz was awarded the Makor Hayim (Source of Our Strength) award. He was recognized for "being a mensch beyond words."
- Lisa Pottiger was awarded the Treasure of Sholom award for her years of service.

Jim finally presented the vote tally. The President will be Laurie Browngoehl, Executive Vice President will be Margaret Husick, Recording Secretary will be Jim Meyer, Shannon Farmer and Robin Bender Stevens will be Vice Presidents-at-Large from 2018-2020, and Marc Alberio will be a Vice President-at-Large for 2018-2019. The five Trustees elected to a term from 2018-2020 are Melissa Fein, Susan Friedman, Beverly Granoff, Nancy Hays, and Eric Lieberman. Michael Galvin and Terri Watson are elected for one term to replace Robin and Marc on the general board.

Mary Ann presented Laurie and Margaret with something that our officers have never had: business cards. She also presented Laurie with a gavel.

Cantor Jamie Marx ended the meeting with all attendees standing in a circle, holding hands, and singing "Amen."

Respectfully submitted by Jim Meyer, Recording Secretary

MIKE DANOWITZ: MAKOR HAYIM/ SOURCE OF OUR STRENGTH AWARD 2018

Michael is a mensch beyond words! He has the executive skills to identify the source of a problem and arrive at a logical and simple solution. His impact on Temple Sholom spans more than a decade. He coordinated the Torah Project Closing Ceremony, served as the Education, Preschool and Youth Chairperson and served on Cantor Marx's Search Committee. He served on our General Board, Executive Board and Board of Trustees President.

Mike spearheaded Boot Camp for Post B'nei Mitzvah pre Rimmon Noar Students, Toasty Jr and Toasty bites. He has accepted chairmanship of our upcoming Capital Campaign.

Michael is highly respected for his expert perspective on Temple Sholom history, finances, governance and problem solving. Mike is trusted for his wise advice and counsel by presidents, clergy, senior staff and lay leadership. He is knowledgeable, caring, compassionate and honest.

Temple Sholom is pleased to recognize Michael Danowitz as the 2018 Makor Hayim/Source of our Strength.

LISA POTTIGER: TREASURE OF SHOLOM 2018

Lisa Pottiger is the quintessential volunteer comfortable with cleaning table clothes and polishing silver as she is with leading and organizing events. She served as the chairperson of the Jewish Life and Learning Committee. Under her leadership she fostered our first TSB Blood Drive. She coordinated Shabbat in the Park, serves as a Scholar in Residence committee member and is a regular contributor to Mitzvah Meals.

It is with joy that we honor Lisa Pottiger for her continuous service to Temple Sholom as our 2018 Treasure of Sholom.

FROM THE BOARD — OUR STRATEGIC PLANNING JOURNEY CONTINUES

Earlier this year the Board of Trustees launched a strategic planning process, embarking on a journey of self-discovery that would allow us to better know Temple Sholom's distinct assets and begin thinking about our future.

Fortuitously, we were selected to participate in the URJ Benchmarking and Assessment Project, a data collection and analysis activity that is giving us a rare opportunity to learn about ourselves and how we compare with other like synagogues. While we are still mining the data, we have a few initial findings we would like to share.

Importantly – but not surprisingly – our congregation is very enthusiastic and positive. We saw a 62% response rate to the Congregant Survey fielded in February with individuals of all age groups being well represented. Individuals responding to the survey report that they are actively involved in the Temple Sholom community (a remarkable 66% consider themselves to be volunteers) and, even more impressively, more than 80% state that the Temple's vision, mission and values resonate strongly with them. Nearly every responding congregant (96%) states that the clergy and staff make them feel welcome and the same number say that they would recommend Temple Sholom to a friend.

Taken together these – and other data points – give us a lot to celebrate. As we continue to delve more deeply into the URJ Benchmarking and Assessment Project data we will continue to understand the strong foundation upon which to dream about our future and build the plans to get us there. To complement the survey findings we will also be conducting a series of informal listening sessions, small gatherings of congregants to be scheduled in the fall, that will allow us to hear different perspectives on the Temple's future.

I look forward to continuing upon this journey with each of you.

NEWS FROM THE INCLUSION AND SPECIAL NEEDS COMMITTEE

The Inclusion Committee continues to be available if you have any concerns or need assistance with obtaining accommodations for your or your family member to assure full participation in our Temple Sholom community. You can call Regina Levin, Inclusion Chairperson, at 610-715-1745.

The Committee was thrilled that the Temple held its annual Shabbat in the Park on June 8th at Merry Place Park, a fully accessible park in Havertown, so that anyone with a mobility challenge could attend and participate in this wonderful annual event.

Regina Levin, Chairperson of the Inclusion and Special Needs Committee, represented Temple Sholom in an event hosted by Jewish Learning Venture on April 29th in Lower Merion, "Maps, Apps, and Art." The goal was to raise awareness about accessibility and the challenges that people who have mobility issues may have in accessing places in our community. Volunteers from around the Delaware Valley visited areas where there were stores and restaurants, and input information about the store/restaurant's accessibility into an app downloaded to everyone's cell phones. The app is "Access Earth" and anyone can download this free app to obtain or provide information about the accessibility of a particular place. Regina and her three teammates visited stores and restaurants in Ardmore's Suburban Square, and spoke with managers and/or sales clerks to obtain information about whether or not there were elevators or ramps, extra wide dressing rooms, "handicapped" bathrooms and/or dressing rooms. The group input the information into the Access Earth app so this information is now available to everyone. The group found that almost all shops/restaurants were accessible (even though there may not have been a helpful sign) and welcoming of its questions. Only Ruby's Diner, a very popular family restaurant, was totally inaccessible for anyone using a wheelchair or scooter. The manager was also not welcoming, asking the group to return later. This was a wonderful experience as the group learned that sometimes available accommodations for people with physical disabilities are not publicized well enough, most places are accommodating, and how frustrating it can be when a store or restaurant is not welcoming and inclusive to people with physical challenges.

Regina and her group who teamed up to participate in Mapping for Accessibility.

To: Harriet Schultz-Rosenblatt on the birth of her granddaughter, Zoya Lee Elkin.

To: Matthew R. Segal, son of Kim & Larry Segal, who will be attending McDaniel College in Westminster, Maryland in the fall. Congratulations on receiving a substantial college scholarship. We're proud of you.

To: All of our graduates!

Let's share our happy occasions, milestones and good news with one another. Please submit your information (anniversary, birth, graduation, new job, etc.) by Tuesday of each week to our Temple office: director@temple-sholom.org.

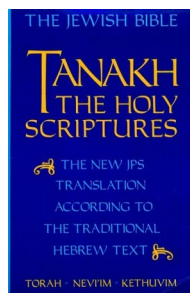

BRINGING OUR COMMUNITY TOGETHER

Summertime has arrived! I hope you are taking some time to relax and get ready for the upcoming year. Here at Temple Sholom, we are busy getting ready for the High Holy Days and a year full of wonderful programs, meaningful conversations, and important learning. If you are around during the summer, we would love to see you! Stop by and say hello, volunteer, or come check out a book in the library. On August 27, we are hosting another Story Hour for prospective and current families. If you know of any friends or families that are interested in coming, please send them our way. We would love to meet them and show them all that Temple Sholom has to offer.

I cannot wait to hear from you over the summer and see what great things you are up to!

SANCTUARY MINHAG (CUSTOMS) AT TEMPLE SHOLOM

At Temple Sholom, we observe the following customs (minhag) regarding entering the sanctuary during services:

People are not permitted to enter the sanctuary when:

- the congregation is standing
- the ark is open
- the Rabbi is speaking
- the choir is standing up and singing
- or at times that would be disrespectful – at the discretion of the sanctuary usher.

It is recommended that children under 12 years of age attend Family Services which are held for those families with children younger than 12 years old and who wish to come as a family. We ask that parents be responsible for the behavior of their children.

SISTERHOOD LOOKS FORWARD TO NEXT YEAR

And Reports on Egg-Cellent Closing Dinner

Fun was had by more than 30 Sisterhood members at our end of the season Closing Dinner that featured Breakfast for Dinner and a most unusual “Mr. Sandman” act, featuring the delightful Leza Raffel as Mr. Sandman, himself. Donna and Fran admitted that dressing in pajamas and hair rollers was a most comfortable look for them.

Many thanks to the Closing Dinner Committee: Laurie Albert, Barbara Barr, Evalyn Elias, and Lori Rowling. The tables were lovely and the food just egg-cellent. We want to give a special call out to Laurie Albert’s baking; her desserts were absolutely divine!

On the tables were sign-up sheets for Sisterhood’s programs for next year. For members who were unable to attend the Closing Dinner, emails have gone out requesting members to sign up for committees. Please remember that Sisterhood has now been running successfully for three years because of YOU. Events are run by committee, and run quite well, too! However, if an adequate committee does not form, the program will not happen. (Think: this year’s plant sale.)

So Many Opportunities to Help

This is just what we know you have been waiting for! Your opportunity to participate in a variety of fun and interesting Sisterhood events starting in the fall. Below you will see a list of the programs we have planned. See something that piques your interest? Maybe you see a friend’s name already on a list. It just takes an email to sisterhood@temple-sholom.org to become part of a committee. We all work as a team. Let us hear from you.

Why not consider signing up to help with an event that you haven’t worked on before? It’s an opportunity to work with new friends on a new event.

The Sisterhood Book Club will be continuing next year. Watch for selected title and dates, which will be announced shortly.

During this summer, you will still have the opportunity to purchase Sisterhood’s Happiness & Memorial cards, as well as Jewish National Fund Trees. Simply contact Shirley Birenbaum by phoning her at 610-328-2171, or email her at surabassa@aol.com. She will guide you through your purchasing choices.

Sisterhood’s invitations and paper goods orders will also continue to be available during the summer. Where else will you find the expert knowledge of Nancy Hays, who is also able to provide you with a nice discount? For high quality stationery supplies at a reasonable price, contact Nancy at haz@comcast.net.

The Sisterhood Gift Garden also remains open by appointment during the summer. Contact the Temple Office or Linda Phillips, or check out the Temple Sholom website for current featured items. Linda has expert knowledge of Judaica, and is able to guide you through gift buying selections. And remember, Sisterhood members are entitled to discounted prices!

Sisterhood continues to function because of YOU! Please stay involved. There is no such thing as too many volunteers! Do you have any questions? Ask away! Contact sisterhood@temple-sholom.org and a response will quickly be on the way!

HILLTOPPERS GET READY FOR ANOTHER EXCITING YEAR

Many of you were able to attend Lawrence Husick's excellent presentation on Gerrymandering. His explanation of "Think That You Choose Your Representatives Every Two Years? Nope... They're Choosing You!"

was met with thought-provoking questions.

The Hilltoppers year concluded with our Closing Dinner. A heart-warming presentation to Shirley Chalick for being awarded "Righteous Person of the Year," was a highlight of the evening. Attendees were also treated to the FiddleKicks, Appalachian cloggers who were accompanied by their musicians. Audience members joined in at the end for a rousing dance lesson. And oh, that food! Mrs. Marty's again did not disappoint with a delicious deli dinner. A congratulatory cake lauding Shirley Chalick topped off the festivities.

And now we're ready for our upcoming year! All our programs and book selections are voted upon by committees of our members. Please let us know throughout the year if you hear of programs that may be of interest to our active 55+ constituency, or if you learn of books that we might want to discuss.

We'll just provide you with a sample of our beginning programs and books. Our Opening event will take place on Thursday, September 27 at 7:30 p.m. when we will welcome Doc Les Rachlin, who will entertain us with his guitar and song, while convincing us musically that Elvis Presley really was Jewish. We can't wait to hear the sounds of this well-known folk artist! Refreshments, of course, will follow.

Our second event is also something to look forward to. Our very own Temple Shalom member Daniel Endy will present a program on "Everything You Wanted To Know About Social Media But Were Afraid To Ask," on Thursday, October 18 at 7:30 p.m. Bring your questions!

All our events are free of charge to Hilltoppers members. Annual dues are a bargain at only $20. Guests are welcome for a donation of $5 per program. We always provide refreshments at the conclusion of programs.

Please join with us for our first selection of our Book Discussion Group, to take place on Thursday, September 13. We will discuss Pachinko, by Min Jin Lee. Our second meeting will take place on Thursday, October 11, when we will review The Book of Separation, A Memoir, by Tova Mirvis. We meet in the Temple Library at 1:30 p.m. Our discussions are directed through careful research by selected facilitators.

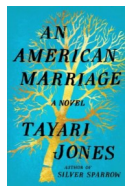

Our monthly board meetings usually take place on the first Thursday morning of the month at 10:30 a.m. in the Temple library. Everyone is welcome and we value the input of all attendees. Please join with us for our first two meetings on September 6 and October 4.

If you have any questions, please contact Hilltoppers President Cindy Meyer at Cfrogs@aol.com or telephone her at 610-359-1133.

SISTERHOOD BOOK CLUB

By popular demand Sisterhood Book Club will meet in the summer!

Date: Wednesday July 18th

Time: 7:30 p.m.

Place: Temple Sholom Library

Book: An American Marriage by Tayari Jones

Newlyweds Celestial and Roy are the embodiment of both the American Dream and the New South. He is a young executive, and she is an artist on the brink of an exciting career. But as they settle into the routine of their life together, they are ripped apart by circumstances neither could have imagined. Roy is arrested and sentenced to twelve years for a crime Celestial knows he didn't commit. Though fiercely independent, Celestial finds herself bereft and unmoored, taking comfort in Andre, her childhood friend, and best man at their wedding. As Roy's time in prison passes, she is unable to hold on to the love that has been her center. After five years, Roy's conviction is suddenly overturned, and he returns to Atlanta ready to resume their life together.

This stirring love story is a profoundly insightful look into the hearts and minds of three people who are at once bound and separated by forces beyond their control. An American Marriage is a masterpiece of storytelling, an intimate look deep into the souls of people who must reckon with the past while moving forward--with hope and pain--into the future.

Hope to see you there! Please RSVP to Michele at teachercoop@aol.com. If you are able to provide a refreshment, it is greatly appreciated.

CONVERSATIONS WITH MEN

We are men of all ages and backgrounds who love intellectually and spiritually stimulating conversations. Each year we meet once a month to learn, share, and discuss different pillars of Judaism. This past year our meetings focused on the Talmud. The prior year we focused on the Zohar and Jewish Mysticism.

For the coming year, starting in September, we will focus on the works of Maimonides A.K.A. Rambam and his copious contributions to Jewish law, culture, and philosophy. These are not lectures; they are facilitated conversations where all viewpoints and opinions are valued.

We hope you will join our group and add your voice to our conversations!

The Conversations with Men group started in response to Women's Spirituality. So, you could also call this group "Men's Spirituality."

TEMPLE SHOLOM DISCUSSION GROUP

If you want a copy or other information about the group, email Bob at bobnmarians@aol.com. The real periodic table has been set to music and is a hoot. You can Google periodic table the song and listen yourself. I had set this periodic table to the tune of These are a Few of My Favorite Things. The song is doable but not likely to make prime time and I spared the group the pain.

WOMEN'S SPIRITUALITY GROUP

As we bring this year to a close, please plan to join us as we gather in the Temple Library on July 25th when Rabbi Leah Berkowitz will be presenting her program on "Sacred Time: How the Jewish Calendar Gives Shape and Meaning to Our Lives." God's final act of Creation is to establish a day of rest. The first commandment the Israelites receive when they leave Egypt is to start counting the months. Through daily rituals and weekly Sabbaths, seasonal festivals and life-cycle ceremonies, the Jewish tradition helps us give shape and sanctity to time. Come explore the mysteries of the Jewish calendar, the challenges of living life in "Jewish time," and the meaning that we bring to our lives by establishing a system of 'Sacred Time'.

Women's Spirituality - Who are we? We are a group of women who are Temple Sholom members. We invite all Temple Sholom women to join us whenever it is convenient. Every session is a separate program and no prior attendance or experience is necessary to enjoy and get a great deal from each program. We welcome all women members of Temple Sholom to share in the friendship and learning with Women's Spirituality.

What do we do? We meet once a month, usually on a Wednesday evening between 7:30 p.m. - 9:00 p.m. While most of our meetings are in the Temple library, sometimes the location, day and time can change.

A recap of the year 2017-2018 began with our Director of Education Lori Green's creative program, "Tzim Tzim... Making Space for God and Others In Our Lives." On November 1st Rabbi Stacy Rigler presented her program partially based on Mussar. We looked for character traits we aspired to have or ones we enjoyed already. As November came to an end Rabbi Ariel Tarash helped us think about "Modah Ani - Hineni... Thankful Am I-Here I Am." When the daylight of December grew shorter, Rabbi Shelly Barnathan brought to us her program "Creating Light!" As our year progressed we learned more about "An Ancient Faith in a 21st Century World" presented by Anna Marx. In April Rabbi Shelly Barnathan returned to bring her program "Between Pesach and Shavuot -The Omer - a period of Refining Our Inner Qualities." On a Sunday afternoon in May Women's Spirituality invited all members of Temple Sholom to join us in a wonderful program about "Soul Stories" presented by Artistic Director Teya Sepinuck from her Theater of Witness productions. During the workshop we drew from our own stories and spirit engaging and witnessing each other in deep reflection. Theater of Witness is creating change one story at a time. For the first time in five years our regular program in Ridley Creek State Park had to be rescheduled due to a very rainy day. We plan on meeting on June 21st and travel through nature to explore "L'dor V'dor from Generation to Generation and from Season to Season." On July 25th we will be concluding the year with Rabbi Leah Berkowitz's program "Sacred Time: How the Jewish Calendar Gives Shape and Meaning to Our Lives."

A special thank you to all our leaders for sharing their talents and gifts with us.

As we bring this year of learning, sharing and spiritual growth to a close, we would like to take this opportunity to thank Temple Sholom Sisterhood for their generous gift and the generous donors who acknowledge special occasions with a donation to the Women's Spirituality Fund at Temple Sholom.

Looking ahead for 2018-2019 our calendar is filled with exciting and new learning experiences with our very dedicated friends and teachers. We hope you will plan to be a part of our group. You can choose to join us as often as you wish.

TEMPLE SHOLOM PRESCHOOL HAPPENINGS

Summer is in full swing and Camp Menschy is having a great time.

I was reading an article recently written by an elementary school teacher. Parents had sent a request to the teacher for 'packets of school work' that their children could do over the summer, so the children would not only not be behind in school in September, but would be ahead of their peers at the start of the term. The teacher was flabbergasted, and was not sure what to say or how to respond. She quickly composed her thoughts and replied that it was not school policy to give work over the summer, but that the parent could find enrichment work online and read books from the suggested summer reading.

What she wanted to say was don't give your child worksheets and work books. Let your children loose to play and have fun, to jump in puddles and play in mud; to play pick-up ballgames in the neighborhood, and build forts in the woods. What she wanted to say, is that children need a break from formal learning to allow themselves the opportunities to grow in other ways. The teacher regretted that she didn't have the time to really think about her answer.

This is something that we, as early childhood educators, already know. Children learn best through play. Study after study have shown that children's brains are designed to learn more, and learn better when they are playing. Studies have found that children who engage in more free play have more highly developed self-directed executive function. The opposite was also true: The more time kids spent in structured activities, the worse their sense of self-directed control.

Summer is a great time to learn through play. Even the youngest children can learn from some of the following ideas:

Grow a vegetable garden. Talk about the lifecycle of plants, from seeds to plants. Have the children learn how to grow their own food from the beginning. (Science and math skills)

Keep a journal about family adventures. If you go on vacations, have the student's help you keep a family journal, by drawing, writing (age appropriate), adding pictures or even just share their thoughts. (Fine motor, pre-writing, writing skills)

Bake a cake. Or lasagna. Or challah. Anytime children spend baking or cooking teaches them numerous skills. They will learn how to measure and pour, how to follow directions in the form of recipes, and how to follow through on a plan. There are recipe books designed for children with easy to understand pictures. (Math, science, reading)

Build a fort. Or a bird feeder. Having your children use real tools allows them to foster their imaginations and physical development, which eventually enables better cognitive development. (Math, science, reading, cognitive)

Learn about Tzedakah. Children of all ages can get involved in social justice issues; learn about giving charity or how to help someone who needs it. There are great books about giving tzedakah including some from PJ Library. (Math, values)

And, the most important thing to do this summer is let your children loose. Allow them the chance to play outside and navigate the jungles of the backyard; play with friends and neighbors and navigate social relationships; swim in the oceans, lakes, rivers and pools and learn a new skill.

I hope everyone has a great summer.

AROUND RIMON

Living Your Life in Radical Amazement

After walking arm in arm with Martin Luther King in Selma, Alabama, Abraham Joshua Heschel shared that he felt “he was praying with his feet.” Heschel was a brilliant philosopher and teacher! Lately, I have been thinking about Heschel’s idea of living one’s life in Radical Amazement. In other words – never take anything for granted. This is my quest as I enjoy the slower pace and travels during these summer months. What does Radical Amazement look like for you? Each of us is unique and therefore, must define our own version of Radical Amazement. To help you think about how to define your own version consider the following:

Noticing

Noticing is more nuanced than merely seeing. We see our world and the people in it each and every day but, do we actually notice the details of what we see? Take some time to focus on the little things ... the beauty of the sun dipping down to the horizon at sunset, the sound of a cricket at night, the smile on the face of a child when the seagulls fly overhead, dandelion seeds drifting in the wind, or the look of gratitude on the face of a homeless person when you not only offer tzedakah but also say “hello” accompanied by a smile.

Appreciating

Feel a sense of appreciation for the gifts that have been bestowed upon you. We often live our lives in a state of what I call, “organized chaos”. We worry about schedules, what’s next on our “to do” list, turmoil in the world ... the list goes on. Each of us can change our narrative by appreciating all that is beautiful in our world and in our own lives.

Wondering

Reflecting on what we notice and appreciating our riches gives each of us an opportunity wonder. Questioning “what if,” pondering “what can be,” wondering how we can invite ourselves to continue living our lives in Radical Amazement. The slower pace of summer offers each of us the time to take a breath and nourish our inner selves.

Rimon ... Looking Back and Looking Forward

Among the pillars that define Temple Sholom’s Rimon Education Program are building community, voice and choice, and learner-centered education. Staying true to these pillars results in thoughtful conversation and reflection with a cross-section of students, parents, faculty members, and our clergy. Each year our Rimon program is “tweaked” based on the collective voices of these stakeholders. A few highlights for the coming year include:

HEBREW (K - 6)

Enhanced Hebrew focusing on sound-to-print learning in the early grades (K – 4) with deeper personal meaning and prayer learning in grade 5 & 6.

SUNDAY RIMON (K - 5)

A “twist” on our successful Project Based Learning program including more opportunities to connect learning to one’s everyday life.

RIMON NOAR (7 – 12)

Teen feedback will result in a reframing of what and how our teens makes sense of and connect to their Judaism.

7th graders and 8th graders will each have a team of faculty leading them in personal understanding of important Jewish events and ideas.

9th through 12th graders will spend the greater part of the year with Rabbi Rigler and the new Visiting Clergy program. Teens will be encouraged to ask tough questions and challenge their own ideas of not only Judaism but other major religions in our communities.

We are so proud of Tamar Galvin for submitting the winning Temple Sholom essay! Tamar will be awarded a significant prize from the “Better Together” Foundation as well as having her essay entered in the national contest. Here is her winning essay.

The twenty-first century is the age of the teenager. The world is increasingly going online, and the best way to get hold of someone is by calling them, emailing them, or texting them. Apps such as Instagram and Snapchat have revolutionized how we share our lives with society. The world is rapidly moving ahead and never looking back. Unfortunately, this means that we are focusing more on the future and future generations, and ignoring stories from those that have come behind us.

I have sat down a few times with seniors from my synagogue. Before we even began talking about the world issues that the program was focused on, I was surprised by how much I learned. One of the first things we discussed was what we like to do in our free time.

When I mentioned reading, my partner, Cindy, immediately jumped on the topic. “What books have you read recently?” she asked me, and I responded. A few had overlapped, and we both took notes of books that the other had mentioned. Our lives intersected in other ways: we both did sports when we were younger, but neither of us enjoyed them; we both enjoyed school, history in particular. All around the room, I could hear other pairs connecting in the same way. Music tastes, favorite movies, even hobbies overlapped between the generations. As I left that first day, I was awestruck. Generations and decades always had seemed to me to be divisive lines. I was pleasantly surprised to know that this is not the case.

This feeling of connectedness continued and even strengthened when we started to discuss current issues. When asked what topics we would like to discuss, both Cindy and I immediately thought of mental health. I then discovered that we both had personal connections to the topic of mental illnesses and disabilities. This, too, amazed me. This was beyond common interests: this was truly common ground. Other pairs were similarly on the same page. Once we began talking about immigration, I discovered that viewpoints converged more than I expected. Seniors took the words out of the teenagers’ mouths. When one thought was shared out, another person would immediately jump on it. Things that the seniors said challenged me to think in new ways. But perhaps the most interesting comment I heard was “This reminds me of something that happened when I was growing up.”

This is why it is important for different generations to get together and talk. History has a tendency to repeat itself. New generations will make the same mistakes that their parents, grandparents and great-grandparents made. Always, but especially now, young adults isolate themselves from their elders. Social media caters to millennials, not older adults. We tend to only interact with those around our own age. I have never, before this year, had someone more than two or three years older than me that I would call a friend. This is where the lines between generations form. We don’t communicate with people who have wisdom and experience to share, so we make the same errors and have to teach ourselves how to build a society that is already built. For a world that is obsessed with “new,” “improved,” and “innovative,” we don’t seem to be making much progress. Sure, the technology gets better, but the same issues that have plagued humankind for centuries continue to plague us.

In the past, the only perspectives heard were from the middle-aged, as they controlled news and outgoing information. In the digital age, now teenagers are sharing their opinions and speaking out. However, we are missing the voices of seniors. The way we get our news and how we share our views is increasingly online-based, which may not be as user-friendly for older adults. Society is not actively ignoring seniors, per se; we just seem to forget that they are there. This is a mistake on our part. There is so much that young adults can learn from seniors and older adults. We are trying to improve life, but how can we do that if we are not learning from the past? As teenagers, we separate ourselves from other generations. We assume we know best, when in actuality there is so much to learn. Talking to seniors and listening is a way to gain valuable knowledge that will help our world in the future. Knowing that the years that divided me and Cindy did not mean our viewpoints completely diverged is striking. There are decades in between when she grew up and when I grew up, but the same issues haunt us and the same lessons need to be learned. She has seen much more of life than I have, and yet it seems to me that our childhoods could be interchangeable. True, the connection between me and Cindy is valuable to both of us. However, when I sit down and have a conversation with her, we should both be remarking how much change has been made. We do not need to be the same to relate to each other; we only need to sit down and talk.

Yes, the twenty-first century is the age of the young adult. But that does not mean it cannot be the age of the senior too. In fact, the next years should be the age of partnerships between all ages. Much change will be coming in the next years, so now more than ever we need wisdom to guide us. It is said that history has a tendency to repeat itself, but that should not be the case. History should guide the future, not endlessly loop. To move forward, we need to look to our past. The best way to do this is for generations to come together and simply talk, like I was fortunate enough to have a chance to do.

OUR TEEN MADRACHIM

Our Rimon program is blessed to have over 25 teens who are members of our Sunday and Hebrew faculty. These teens bring an energy and passion to our learning spaces and prayer spaces that is magical.

We are also honored and thrilled to have teens who participate in the TAP Program at Jewish Learning Venture. The Teen Assistant Program (TAP)/Reta Emerson Fellowship is Jewish Learning Venture's education initiative through which a group of selected high school students are trained and mentored to assist children with special needs and those experiencing difficulty in congregational classroom settings and in the community.

Jack Kedson, a graduating senior, participated in the TAP program last year and Andrew Danowitz, an emerging senior, participated during the 2017-2018 school year. We are so excited that we have even more teens who are applying for the 2018-2019 school year.

JNF TREES AND WATER FOR ISRAEL

A quick and easy way to honor and/or remember a friend, relative or event is to have one or more trees planted in Israel. Or a donation may be made to help meet the water needs there. In either case, a lovely certificate is sent to the honoree and/or family.

The Temple Sholom Sisterhood wants to encourage everyone to support the Jewish National Fund (JNF) by planting trees in Israel and/or contributing to the JNF Parsons Water Fund to alleviate their severe water shortage. Planting trees helps to create green forests in previously barren land. Contributing to the water fund helps in the building of water reservoirs and dams which provide life-giving water to more than 1.2 million Israelis. Tree purchases are $18.00 each and contributions to the water fund also begin at $18.00. This is the perfect opportunity to honor and/or remember a family member, loved one, friend, etc. The honoree will receive a lovely certificate acknowledging your donation to JNF. For further information call Shirley Birenbaum at 610-328-2171 or surabassa@aol.com.

Two trees were planted by Barbara & David Smilk in honor of Mrs. Pearl Sand's 100th Birthday.

We are able to reserve seats for those in a wheel chair, visually or hearing impaired. We have large print prayer books, a braille edition & magnifying sheets.

There is one very special way to mark a sad or happy occasion and benefit Israel at the same time. All you need to do is purchase a Jewish National Fund tree that will be planted in Israel.

- * The cost of one JNF tree is $18
- * A Ring of three trees is $54
- * A Circle of five trees costs $90
- * An Orchard of ten trees is $180
- * A Garden of 100 trees is $1,800

With each purchase, the recipient receives a beautiful (and frame-able!) certificate noting the gift size. You can even visit the trees when you go to Israel. The purchases receives acknowledgement in The Temple Tidings.

Lobby Collections

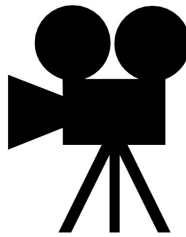

We continue to collect pots/pans/kitchenware items, glasses, dishes, gift cards & comforters for the Nationalities Service Center. This organization provides comprehensive services to refugees and immigrants from around the world.

If you grew up with the band, you belong in the Club!

Culture Club Celebrates Summer with Two Star-Studded Events!

Mark Your Calendars for July 15 and August 8

The word is out; Temple Sholom has a new Club!

Culture Club was created for members in their 40s and 50s who want to socialize and have fun. We are energetic and outgoing adults who are empty nesters (or soon to be) and know we are cooler than our kids think we are! If you grew up listening to 80s bands and watching films starring the Brat Pack, YOU belong in the Club!

Come get to know us!

We have two completely different summer events coming up (despite their organizers giving them basically the same name as if to confuse us!) See the info below and RSVP today!

Summer Concert Under the Stars

Sunday, July 15
5:00pm

Upper Merion Township Building Park
175 West Valley Forge Road
King of Prussia

Featuring performances by Scythian with special guest Ren. Bring your beach towels or chairs and bring picnic food to share.

There is a beer garden on site.
Look for our blue and white balloons.

Critics say "Scythian's enthusiasm is contagious, and shows seem to end with everyone dancing, jumping around or hoisting glasses."

RSVP here:
doodle.com/poll/zdid9iqrcpxshdii

Summer Dining Under the Stars

Wednesday, August 8
7:00pm

Restaurant TBD
State Street
Media

State Street in downtown Media comes alive during the summer on Wednesday nights with restaurants, music, crafts and more.

Based on RSVPs received by August 1, we will select a restaurant that can accommodate our group.

Look for our blue and white balloons and join us for an evening of fun and food!

THE SHABBAT SUITE

AT LANKENAU MEDICAL CENTER

PROVIDING COMFORT

When you or a loved one needs the care or services of a hospital, it's comforting to know that a premier medical center in your region offers a peaceful space for families to observe Shabbat and holidays.

At Lankenau Medical Center, our specialized medical and surgical teams are skilled in providing advanced care. We also understand the importance of helping patients and families through their physical, emotional, and spiritual journey.

Our comfortable and convenient Shabbat Suite features:

- Two private bedrooms, each with two beds and a private bathroom with shower*
- 24/7 private kitchen and stocked pantry
- Spacious lounge and private space for minyan

At Lankenau, providing compassionate care has been a tradition for more than 150 years.

To learn more about Shabbat services or to visit the Shabbat Suite at Lankenau Medical Center, call 484.476.2020 or visit mainlinehealth.org/shabbat. We look forward to helping ensure a comfortable Shabbat environment.
